MICHAEL ROBINSON-CHAVEZ
Imperium: Ukrainians Endure

In February of 2022 Russian President Vladimir Putin ordered the unprovoked and brutal invasion of Ukraine. Putin doesn't see Ukraine as a sovereign nation but rather a part of a greater Russian empire. Cities across the country are under merciless artillery and missile attacks. Civilians are frequently targeted and killed. Black smoke rises above Odesa, once a playground for Russian oligarchs, families bury their dead, internally displaced people receive food handouts as others board buses for destinations many miles from their homes. The war carries on into a second year as does the misery.
